"True Thomas the Storyteller"

also known as Robert Seutter, has been telling tales, and spinning stories for many years. Audiences of all ages and backgrounds have found themselves wrapped by True, in wonderful stories old and new. His repertoire includes Celtic myths and legends, stories of all cultures, modern stories, science fiction and fantasy, and "wisdom" stories common in every culture. Some of his stories are "resurrected" traditional stories told nowhere else, and his modern "True" stories are in much demand.

He has performed everywhere from Beverly Hills mansions, to SCA battlefields. His Clients include hundreds of schools and renaissance fairs, as well as many corporate clients and museums. Clients include Disney, Remax, Mervyns, Armand Hammer Museum, The Getty Museum, Ventura Law Enforcement Association, the Jonathon club and many more. He was recently featured at the Los Angeles World Storytelling Festival.

"True" tells stories from many cultures, and one of his specialties is researching and creating one of a kind characters, with unique voices and viewpoints, using stories to bring a place and time to life. Among his re-created characters that include True Thomas the Rhymer, 13th century poet and seer, Col. Nigel Ramsbottom (for the San Fran. Zoo), Honest Biggins (Passenger aboard the Mayflower) for Remax Realtors and many others. "True" is not only a performer, as he has also helped produce over 190 storytelling shows, and founded DreamShapers, a 501c3 Non-Profit, to support the storytelling and folk arts. He understands productions and special events from both sides of the stage. As an Emcee and Media consultant he also has helped many clients develop great events for Fundraising and more.
